Alex Frato
Dr. Rivas
Feb 4 2016

Difference Between Keys

A Candidate key is an individual column that shows uniqueness for all rows in that column. If a row is a Candidate key, it is eligible for being a primary key

A primary key is a column that maintains uniqueness in a table at the row level. This is the key others tables use to reference this table.

A Super key is a primary key that consists of two or more columns. The table is only accessible from the input of both keys.